Florida Freezing in Unusual Cold Snap

By UNITED PRESS

A belt of wintry air that has coated most of the nation with a layer of frost puffed into Florida today as it departed from the north-central area.

Temperatures scooted up to 10 to 20 degrees higher early today than Friday in a large section of land extending from the Southern Plains into the upper Mississippi Valley states. The cold air, however, penetrated into hitherto balmy Florida. Tampa shivered in a nighttime climate of 36 degrees, and Cross City, Fla., residents were victims of 20 degree cold.

In contrast, Cut Bank, Mont., usually one of the chilliest spots in the country, reported a relatively warm reading of 27 degrees. The Mercury at Fargo, N.D. soared to 24 degrees Friday night, in contrast to its reading of 4 degrees the day before. Corpus Christi, Tex., also warmed up quickly. night's air climbed to 50 after near freezing temperatures the night before.

Zero Readings

Florida was not alone in its cold spasms, however, most of the eastern third of the country continued to suffer in the unusually cold air. Zero readings were common in parts of the Great Lakes states as well as along the northern Atlantic Coast.

Light snow flurries glided over the Great Lakes and Appalachians both Friday and today. Although precipitation amounts were generally light, some spots received a fairly heavy dose of snow. Depths in upper Michigan were increased by about an inch while at Buffalo, N.Y., an additional two inches raised their total on the ground to 17 inches.

The remainder of the nation had relatively dry weather, but near zero temperatures were still reported in the Northern and Central Rockies, as well as in the Northern Plateau.

The week-long cold spell has been responsible for at least 94 deaths, a United Press survey revealed. Most of the victims perished in flash fires. One person died every hour as 24 people were killed in blazes in one day. Of the dead, 16 of them were children. North Carolina had the grim leadership in the fatality count with 16 deaths.

Auto Hits Parked Car; $800 Damage

About $800 damage resulted early this morning when a car operated by Norman Kostelansky, 29, of 910 Rostraver street, Monessen, collided with a parked car belonging to Charles Mackey, of R. D. 1, Belle Vernon.

State Police said Kostelansky was traveling north on Route 906, about one-half mile north of Monessen, when his car ran off the road and struck the Mackey machine.

No one was injured, police reported.

New Dam Mentioned

FREDERICKTOWN, Pa. (UP) — Rep. Thomas E. Morgan (D-Pa.) announced Friday that a $50,000 appropriation for survey work on a new dam on the Monongahela River at Brownsville was included in President Eisenhower's budget requests for civil work projects.

Alcoa Founder Planning to Sell $22 Million Shares

MIAMI (UP)—Multi-millionaire Arthur Vining Davis is planning to sell a huge portion of his Aluminum Co. of America holdings, it was reported here today.

The report said a secondary offering of 350,000 Davis-owned common shares was registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission in Washington.

The offering is worth almost $22-million. A recent closing quotation placed the price of Alcoa shares at $88.37.

Davis, one of the founders of Alcoa and the board chairman of the world's largest aluminum company, has sold three other blocks of his shares. The latest, last September, was valued at some 17-million dollars.

Davis, convalescing at his home here after a long illness, was unavailable for comment. The multi-millionaire investor who is reputed to own one-eighth the land area of Dade County (Miami), will still own 936,824 shares of Alcoa following the new sale.

Legislative Probe of Administration Will Start Next Tuesday

HARRISBURG (UP) — The Republican controlled General Assembly reconvenes Tuesday afternoon to complete the groundwork for its first joint investigation of "top priority" legislation.

House Majority Leader Albert Johnson (R-McKean) said he would call for a vote on a GOP sponsored resolution to investigate the commuted death sentences of three convicted Philadelphia killers. Johnson said he looks for a floor battle from the Democrats, but expects the proposal to pass and be sent to the Senate Tuesday.

The resolution was the first piece of legislation to reach the floor of either chamber in the new session. It sped through committee and will be the sole item on the House work calendar when the lawmakers convene.

Clean Slate

The Senate has not reported any of its 15 bills from committee so it has a clean slate. However, the senators could also speed approval of the "Darcy" resolution.

The proposal calls for a joint House-Senate inquiry of the state Pardons Board action in recommending clemency to David K. Darcy, Harold Foster and Harry Zietz and Gov. George M. Leader's last minute commutation of their death penalties to life imprisonment. The eight-member investigation team would report its findings within 60 days.

Johnson estimated six bills would be reported out of committee on Tuesday. He indicated they would be sped through the required three readings so that they would be ready for a vote later this month.

The six bills include:

1. Absentee voting privileges for civilians.
2. A $150,000,000 Korean bonus for some 335,000 state veterans.
3. Giving special tax relief to private forests.
4. Annual sessions of the General Assembly rather than meeting in odd numbered years.
5. Ordering the state Pardons Board to publish its reasons for granting or rejecting appeals for clemency.
6. Making permanent the refund of taxes paid by farmers on gasoline used in agricultural machinery.

Korean Bonus Bill

The Korean bonus bill, on its second trip through the legislative mill, is contained in bills submitted in both chambers. However, if passed by the Assembly the proposal must be approved by a statewide referendum before becoming law because it is a constitutional amendment.

The bonus bill contains a touchy paragraph stating that it will not go into effect until the Assembly has passed a tax bill to defray its cost.

Johnson said the House would not write the necessary tax measure to pay the bonus until it had been approved by the voters. So

Two Homes in District Are Damaged by Fire

Homes in Rostraver Township and Eureka were damaged by fires yesterday.

Reports said severe damage resulted from a fire which last night burned the framework of the Kenneth Heilman home in Rostraver Township.

Belle Vernon firemen said the blaze apparently started above the furnace, mushroomed to the second floor, where it spread between partitions and floorings.

No estimate of the damage was given.

About $1,000 damage was caused when fire erupted in the home of John Stimmel in Eureka, near West Newton.

Smithton Fire Chief Carl Nicholaus said the blaze started in or around the chimney of the frame dwelling and worked into partitions. Quick work by firemen averted more serious damage.

Firemen had more than the fire to contend with. One fireman was bitten by the Stimmel family dog, which later attacked a policeman. The family was warned to keep the animal in tow.

U. S. Air Power On Display in Record Flight

WASHINGTON (UP) — More global demonstrations of American air-atomic power can be expected to follow the historic round-the-world flight of B52 hydrogen bombers, military authorities said today.

They saw the first non-stop jet circuit of the earth as one in a series of maneuvers that wil make their significance felt in the Kremlin and will buoy up allied confidence in American power to deter war.

Three of the huge B52 Stratoforts winged into March Air Force Base, Calif., Thursday to complete a 24,325-mile flight that took just 45 hours 19 minutes at an average speed of more than 535 miles an hour. They simulated a bomb drop halfway through the mission — about 50 miles west of the Malay Peninsula.

The "bombs" could have been dropped anywhere "on the face of the earth," the Strategic Air Command pointed out.

SAC is slated to get 11 B52 wings each with 45 bombers. Several hundred jet-propelled tankers will be built to replace the obsolescent piston-engine planes now used for in flight refueling.

Rostraver Teacher Gets State Award

Thomas Cocain, vocational agriculture instructor at Rostraver Township High School, received an honorary Keystone Farmer's Degree at the Farm Show held this week in Harrisburg. It was presented by the Pennsylvania Future Farmers of America.

The award was presented for the special work Cocain has contributed as a vocational agricultural instructor.

Cocain, who lives at 926 Fayette road, Belle Vernon, was given a gold medal and certificate.

30 Year Suspended Sentence Is Granted

"COST . . . BEYOND MEASURE" — Chairman Thomas Gordon of the House foreign affairs committee listens as Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther discusses President Eisenhower's Middle East doctrine. The former Supreme Allied Commander in Europe told the committee that, unless Russia's trouble-making in that area is challenged, "the cost to the free world would be beyond measure."

Jordan Cuts British Ties; In Arab Bloc

CAIRO (UP) — Leaders of the four-power Arab "Neutral Bloc" signed an agreement today permitting Jordan to sever its last remaining ties with Britain.

The agreement, signed by leaders of Egypt, Syria, Saudi Arabia and Jordan, will provide Jordan with a $35 million yearly subsidy to replace Britain's long-term financial aid agreement. The Arab agreement will run 10 years.

Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser, Saudi Arabia's King Saud, Syrian Premier Sabri El Assali and young King Hussein of Jordan signed the new pact at the closing session of a two-day round of "summit" conferences.

Jordan announced last week it was prepared to renounce the British agreement which provided an annual subsidy of $35,140,000 in return for the right to keep British bases in Jordan.

Today's agreement ended months-long efforts by Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Syria to win Jordan as a full member of the "Neutralist Bloc" of Arab States opposing the northern tier Baghdad Pact, which embraces the Moslem nations of Turkey, Iran, Iraq and Pakistan.

Under the agreement, Egypt and Saudi Arabia each will contribute $14 million a year in financial aid and Syria will contribute $7 million.

Today's announcement also said the four leaders discussed the Eisenhower Doctrine. Israel's refusal to withdraw from the Gaza Strip and Gulf of Aqaba areas, the Suez Canal, the Anglo-French and Israeli attack on Egypt, Jordanian affairs and the Arab stand on Middle East problems in general.

King Saud left Cairo by plane for Naples, Italy, on the way to his state visit in Washington at the invitation of President Eisenhower. He is expected to arrive in Washington later this month.

Informed sources said Saud was expected to inform Mr. Eisenhower of decisions reached by the four powers on his proposed plan for halting Communist expansion in the Middle East.

The Arab Big Four meeting was held as Russia and Communist China promised "necessary support" to the Middle East as

Record Set by Gas Consumers

Edgar Shuster, manager of the Monessen office of Peoples Natural Gas Co., said today that fuel delivered to customers during the current cold spell broke all records.

He said deliveries set all-time records in three of the past five days.

Shuster said there is no breakdown of figures for Monessen. However, he stated the entire Peoples system delivered a total of 493,107,000 cubic feet of gas last Monday, a record for daily consumption. The previous high for this year was 479,000,000 cubic feet on Jan. 2.

Industries Asked To Help Vesta Coal Miners

Washington County Commissioner John Mazza yesterday appealed to industries in the county to come to the rescue of the Vesta No. 4 coal miners who will be idled when the mine ceases operations on April 1.

He asked that smaller industries hire one or two and larger industries more of the miners.

Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. announced last weekend it would shut down operations at Vesta No. 4, affecting nearly 800 workers. Mazza expressed the hope yesterday that industries would hire a good number of the miners.

Some of the miners, he stated, will be able to draw miners welfare pensions.

At the somt time yesterday, Commissioner W. J. Lane said he had talked with Gov. George Leader and had arranged a meeting between Jacob Kassab, a county redevelopment head, and state redevelopment officials to try to cope with the Vesta problem.

County Man Is Among Those Named by Jury

HARRISBURG (UP) — Dauphin County Court convened in executive session today to consider recommended indictments against 23 persons, including top officials of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission, resulting from an investigation of an alleged multi-million dollar swindle of turnpike funds.

A special grand jury Friday night leveled charges of malfeasance, misfeasance and non-feasance in office against:

G. Franklin McSorley, Pittsburgh Democrat and present commission chairman.

Thomas J. Evans, Coaldale Republican and McSorley's predecessor as head of the agency.

James F. Torrance, Export, a Republican member and its former secretary.

The inclusion of McSorley's name in the voluminous presentment, although on a comparatively minor charge, came as a surprise and may embarrass the administration of Gov. George M. Leader. An appointee of the governor, he was designated chairman when the Democrats took over control of the agency last May.

McSorley was charged with "wilfully and corruptly" permitting Daniel J. Dalto, a commission employe, to serve as chauffeur for Evans, his family and friends, for an eight-month period in 1955-56.

The jurors said Dalto was paid $2,800 during that period from commission funds for services which did not benefit the agency.

Started Last Year

The Democratic state administration sparked the investigation last September when it charged the commission while under GOP control was defrauded of more than $9,000,000 through subsequently cancelled contracts held by the Manu-Mine Research and Development Corp., Reading, for filling in abandoned coal mines under the Northeastern Extension.

The special grand jury, consisting of 17 Republicans and two Democrats, climaxed 38 days of taking testimony from 66 witnesses with its report to Acting President Judge William H. Neely, and Judges Walter R. Sohn and Homer L. Kreider.

The court told the jurors they are to reconvene Jan. 28 to consider whether they wish to inquire further into other alleged irregularities in turnpike affairs. In the meantime, the court will decide whether to ask District Attorney Huette F. Dowling to draw up indictments for consideration by the regular January grand jury now in session.

The grand jurors also recommended indictment on conspiracy charges of Charles W. Strickler, Jr., president of Manu-Mine; Clayton Landsidle, the firm's vice-president and general manager, nine Manu-Mine inspectors at the

What Terms in 'Pike Indictments Mean to Public

HARRISBURG (UP) — A special grand jury has charged malfeasance, misfeasance and non-feasance in office against the present and former chairmen of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission and the sole Republican member of the agency.

Here is the way Webster's Collegiate Dictionary defines the charges:

Malfeasance—The doing of an act which a person ought not to do; often used of official misconduct.

Misfeasance—A trespass, the doing wrongfully and injuriously of an act which one might do in a lawful manner.

Non-feasance — Omission to do something, especially what ought to have been done.

The charges, stemming from an investigation of an alleged multi-million dollar swindle of turnpike funds, cited G. Franklin McSorley, Pittsburgh Democrat, present commission chairman; Former chairman Thomas J. Evans, Coaldale Republican, and James F. Torrance, Export, present Republican member of the commission and its former secretary.

The jury also recommended indictment of 20 other persons.

Petition for Wage Increase

Washington County employes yesterday submitted a petition asking for a wage increase.

The petition bore approximately 100 names representing with few exceptions all county employes except those directly under the supervision of the Commissioners.

Actually, the petition does not ask for a wage increase but for a change of the county pay pattern from twice monthly to every two weeks. This system would add two paydays each year and result in a yearly salary increase of eight and one-half per cent.

The commissioners are considering the request.

County Slayer Called Insane

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP)—Charles Lutsovich, 32, of Hutchinson, indicted in the slaying of his mother and sister last fall, has been declared insane and ordered committee to Fairview State Hospital for the Criminally Insane.

Lutsovich, indicted Wednesday on two murder charges, shot and killed his mother, Mrs. Mary Lutsovich, and his sister, Helen, Oct. 13, 1956 He also shot his father, who later recovered from his serious wounds.

'My Fair Lady' Has Problems With Star Taking Vacation

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK (UP) — The management of "My Fair Lady" has happily solved its Rex Harrison vacation problem by getting the replacement it desired, but the vast public anxious to see this musical hit still has a Rex Harrison problem.

Thousands of tickets have been sold months in advance, and the holders of these can never be quite sure whether the British star will be around when it is time for them to see the show.

It is definite, of course, that those who go during the four weeks beginning Feb. 4 won't see Harrison, for he starts a month's leave at that time. Edward Mulhare, the alien whose employment as a replacement was unsuccessfully opposed by Actors' Equity Assn., will be on view.

But Harrison's contract also gives him the privilege of eight more weeks of leave before Dec. 1, when his contract ends, if he wants to take the time off.

So it is pure gamble if any ticket holder, discovering that he has a Harrison-less date, seeks to repair that circumstance by exchanging his tickets for a future date. Harrison might not be present then either.

Harrison's contract calls for him to give Producer Herman Levin five weeks' notice of any proposed absence. Such notice might or might not percolate to the public immediately, but that actually would make little difference because ticket sales are on such a long-range basis.

Mulhare, incidentally, is a "replacement"—not the "stand-by" who stays available for use in case of illness or other emergency. The stand-by is Bramwell Fletcher, an experienced dramatic star for many years. The plan is to use Mulhare this year any time Harrison takes another leave, and, presumably, he will step into the role when Harrison eventually bows out for good.

During the squabble over the use of Mulhare, many Broadwayites were speculating as to why the management couldn't just bring in Brian Aherne for the month of February because this star already was under contract to play the role in the national touring company that was not yet functioning. The reason is simple: The national company starts rehearsing early in February, and Aherne couldn't do both things.

The only sensible advice to give those worried about whether they are going to see Harrison in the show is to tell them to go to any performance for which they can get tickets. Harrison is excellent and important, but — as Shakespeare didn't quite say — the show's the thing.

Last week's "A Clearing in the Woods" by Arthur Laurents first was scheduled to depart after two nights, but the producers had a change of mind last Saturday and decided to see if the play could surmount the unhappy reviews. They claimed to see some encouraging signs. It wil go another week, at least. Jim Stanley is the star.

Next week Broadway gets "Waiting for Godot" Monday night and "The Hidden River" Wednesday night. The former was done last season amid considerable controversy. This time around it has an all-Negro cast.

Hospital Sued By Parents for Son's Treatment

CHICAGO (UP)—The parents of a five-year-old boy have filed a $2 million suit against the Illinois Masonic Hospital charging that he is in a "state of complete vegetation" as a result of treatment he received there.

The suit contends Jose Virella's heart stopped beating while he was undergoing a tonsillectomy at the hospital in 1955.

Doctors massaged the boy's heart and were able to restore beating but the boy remained in a coma for six months and has remained in a comatose state ever since.

Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Virella, the child's parent, said his condition resulted from failure on the part of the hospital to give him a proper examination before the operation.

The hospital superintendent, William Tenney, said "We did all that was humanly possible" for the boy and said that his present condition was probably the result of oxygen deprivation during the heart stoppage.

He termed the heart stoppage "an unforseeen occurrence" and said heroic measures by many doctors combined to save the boy's life.

Farm Show Is Closed; Called Smashing Success

HARRISBURG (UP)—The 41st annual Pennsylvania Farm Show is past history today but commercial exhibitors and farmers joined in proclaiming the five-day agriculture review a smashing success.

State police estimated total attendance at 510,000 held down from last year by the inclement weather, but exhibitors claimed the reduced audience permitted elbow room around the machinery displays.

The show closed Friday night with many exhibitors maintaining they had made more potential contacts for business than ever before.

Glen Foreman, 17, Manheim RD 3, also had reason to applaud the farm show. His grand cha pion, 4-H baby beef, a 1,075 Angus steer "Rex," was sold to a restaurant chain for $1,795 at $1.65 a pound.

Glen said he paid $119 for the animal in November, 1955, and spent another $200 for feed. Discounting labor, the youth reaped a $1,476 profit in 15 months.

Six in Family Burned to Death While Sleeping

POCAHONTAS, Va. (UP)—A 45-year-old handyman, his wife and four young daughters burned to death Friday night when their frame house burned to the ground, apparently while the family slept.

Police identified the victims as Ray Bostic, his wife Imogene, and their four girls, Alice May, 9; Barbara Sue, 7; Mary Ellen, 5; and Wanda Sue, 3.

The bodies of the four children were found in their charred beds and the bodies of their parents were found just outside the children's room.

Police said the fire, which was apparently started by an overheated stove, broke out shortly after 9 p.m. EST. Fire equipment from here was rushed 10 miles to the Bostic home, but the four-room house had burned to the ground before it arrived.

COUNTERPANE CATHEDRAL

There was a man who had stopped going to church because, he said, "Church doesn't make me feel any nearer to God."

One night he stepped into the children's room to kiss them good night. And suddenly he felt as though he were in church. There was a pillowed altar and a devout congregation in prayer. Yet he didn't feel any nearer to God.

And in that moment he learned the truth that every soul must learn; religion is not some outer force that brings God close to a man. Religion is man's inner yearning which reaches up and discovers how near God is.

And so, from the example of his children, he learned how to find the faith which had eluded him. And, finding it, he returned to church to share with other Christians the rich experience of worship . . . to receive the spiritual gifts of Word and Sacrament . . . to serve Christ in the vital, challenging work of the Church.

He knows that in church—or in a moonlit nursery—God is near those who want Him near!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Polish Elections Tomorrow

'Free' Balloting Could Have Major Repercussions in Europe

WARSAW, Poland (UP) — Poland votes Sunday in critical national elections that could spell the end to the "liberal" Communism of Wladyslaw Gomulka.

The results of the balloting, heralded here as the first "free" elections since the end of World War II, could have major repercussions in other restive East European states.

The Communists cannot lose the election. What is at stake is Gomulka's experiment in "democratization." The real showdown is between Gomulka and the diehard Stalinists of the "tough" Communist line.

Gomulka will speak to the country tonight over a nationwide radio hookup. He is expected to warn Poles to indicate by their votes wholehearted support of his policies or face a return to the harsh policies of the past.

Apathetic Populace

He faced a largely apathetic population. Fired last year by the Poznan rebellion and the subsequent ouster of the old-line Stalinists, the majority of Poles are subdued and confused by the more recent patching up of relations with Moscow.

All signs point to a victory for Gomulka, who came out of a Communist prison to free Poland from the harsh domination of the Kremlin.

But if he should fail to get a solid majority — and many Poles may boycott the election as a protest against Communism—the diehard Stalinist wing may attempt to return to power.

The election is free in the sense voters may have a choice of 723 candidates to fill the 459-member Sejm (Parliament). But all the candidates were hand-picked by the Polish United Workers (Communist) Party.

The candidates the party wants most to win head the election lists. Voters have the option of crossing off the top names but Gomulka has urged them not to. Unmarked ballots dropped in the boxes are counted for these top men.

SHE'S SUING IKE — Mrs. Rita Van Wees (above) has brought suit in Washington against President Eisenhower, contending that as commander-in-chief of the nation's military forces, he "abandoned" her son, Cpl. Ronald Van Wees, missing in Korea. Her suit seeks to force the President to take "resolute action" in determining her son's fate. Federal Judge Matthew F. McGuire reserved decision.

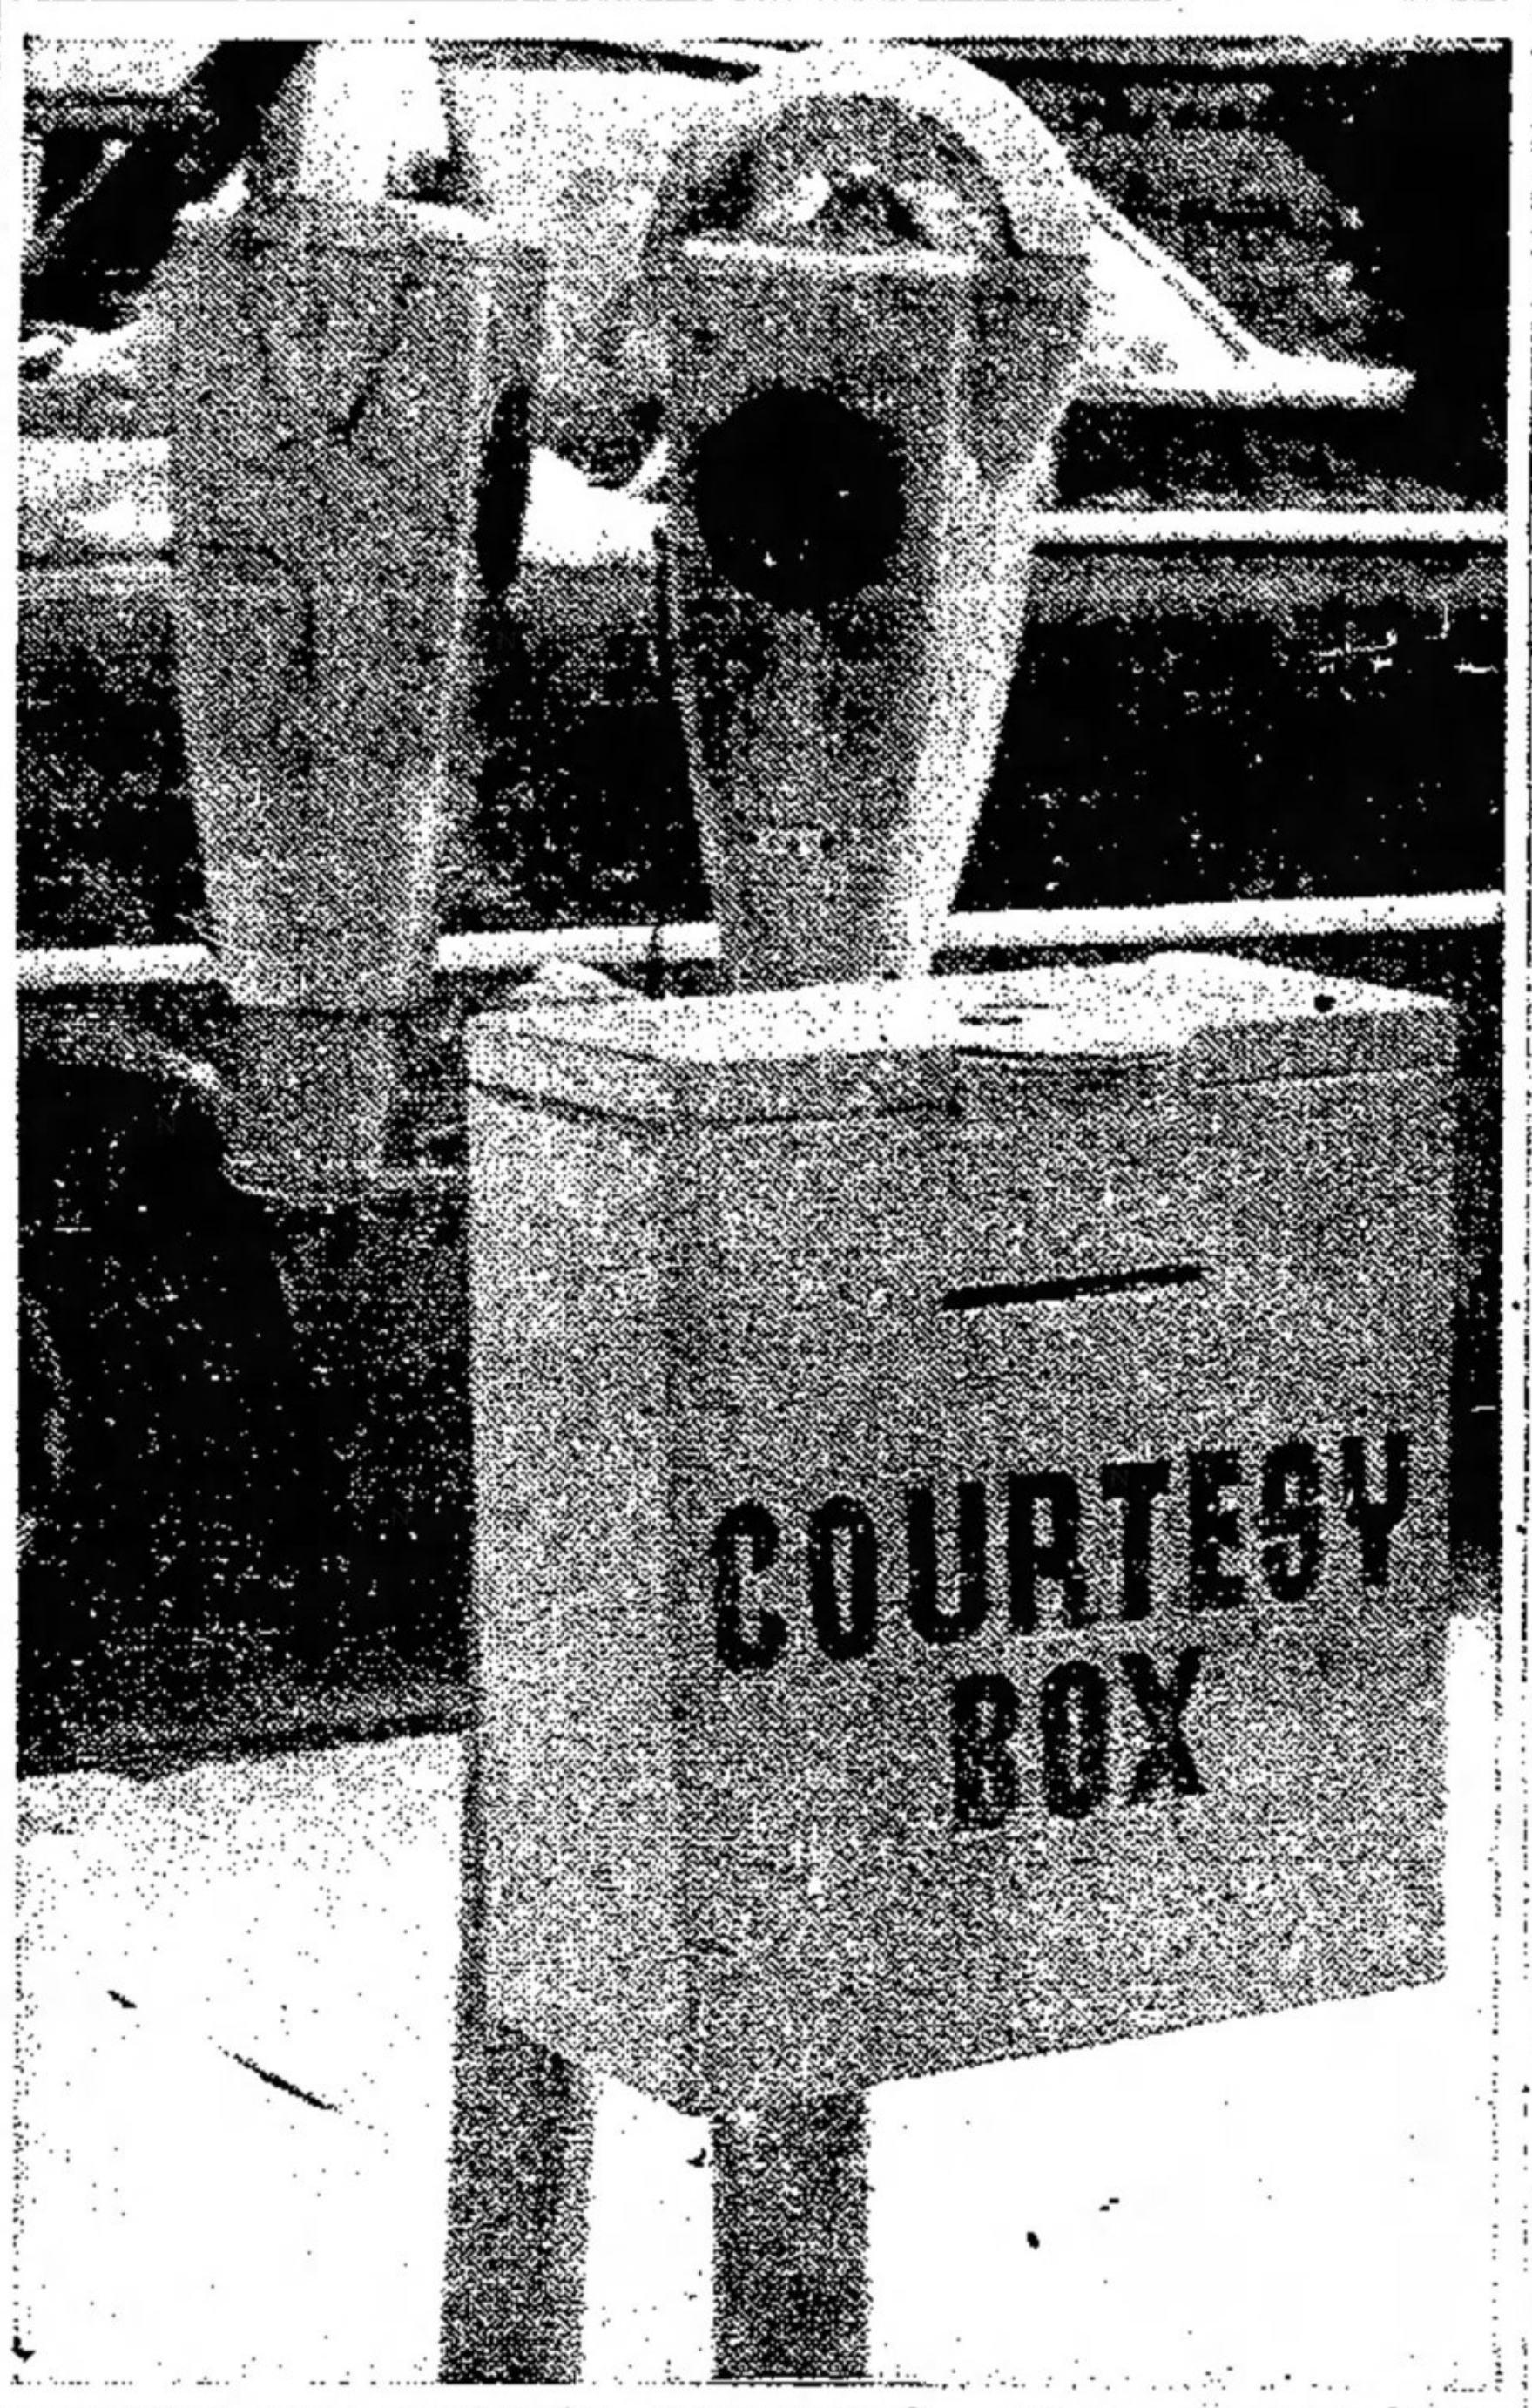
Child Loses Her Fight for Life

DETROIT (UP)—Kathy Koontz, 5, finally lost her fight for life Friday after "dying" twice the previous night.

Kathy ran into the street Thursday to watch some fire trucks pass and was struck by a car.

Her pulse and blood pressure stopped twice during a two-hour brain operation and each time the anesthetist forced air back into her lungs with a breathing bag. But Friday the injuries proved too much and she died.

Watch the Birdie!



"BREAK" FOR PARKING VIOLATORS — These courtesy boxes have been installed at Monessen's off-street parking plazas for the benefit of erring parkers. Here's how the system works: If you are cited for overtime parking, a police officer will place a tag and a small envelope on your car. If you return to your car within a half hour after it was tagged, you can save yourself a trip to the police station and money by placing a quarter in the envelope and dropping it in the courtesy box. If you pass the half-hour "grace period" you must pay the $1 fine in person at the station.

Senate Probers Turn To Pacific Teamsters

WASHINGTON (UP)— Senators investigating labor racketeering swung their attention today to the West Coast stronghold of the powerful Teamsters' Union.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) of the Senate Investigating subcommittee summoned for public testimony Frank W. Brewster, president of the Western Conference of Teamsters, and Nugent La Poma, head of Teamsters Local 174 in Seattle, Wash.

Brewster and La Poma refused to testify at a closed hearing Wednesday.

The subcommittee indicated it also might investigate Teamster activities in another West Coast area. It took testimony in closed session Friday from two reporters from the Portland Oregonian. The newsmen — Wallace Turner and William Lambert — told in a series of copyrighted dispatches last year of efforts by Teamster officials to take over vice operations in the city.

Some 30 persons, including about seven Teamster officials, have been indicted on various charges including conspiracy and labor racketeering.

The subcommittee was bucking a top-level teamsters challenge of its authority.

Teamsters General President Dave Beck failed to respond to an invitation to testify, pleading illness in a telegram from his Seattle home.

Beck's No. 2 man, International President Einar O. Mohn, refused to answer the subcommittee's questions on the ground that it lacked jurisdiction to investigate the Teamsters.

Insistent On Silence

Mohn stuck to his silent stand despite McClellan's statement that the subcommittee has jurisdiction to investigate operations of the government and administration of the law. The chairman said he wanted to know whether the Teamsters filed accurate financial reports with the Labor Department and whether tax-exempt union funds were diverted to private profit.

The senators told Mohn he was giving the whole labor movement a black eye to protect "goons" in his union, but he would not talk.

mine flushing project, and these officials and employes of:

Rogers Construction Co., Scranton — Joseph Rogers, co-owner; George W. Oswald, superintendent: Robert Havard, and Walter G. Ketas, an official.

Turnpike Commission — Paul J. McNeill, finance officer; John D. Paul, chief engineer in charge of construction; Theodore S. Paul, legal counsel.

J. E. Greiner Co., Baltimore, former turnpike consulting engineers—G. J. Hudert and E. J. Donnelley.

Stickler and Landsidle were also charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. In addition the jurors charged Landsidle and McNeill with perjury for "wilfully and corruptly making false statements under oath" in testimony before them.

Only $4,300 Capital

The report said that Manu-Mine organized with a capital of $4,300, derived about 95 per cent of its income during 1951-55 from contracts with the commission, amounting to over $9,000,000.

The contract signed by Evans Feb. 28, 1955 for the mine-filling work, it said, was invalid because it was entered into "willingly and purposely" by Evans, certain other commissioners and officials of Manu-Mine "for the purpose of defrauding the commission" of about $19,500,000. The report said the contract was not competitively bid, had no performance bond, no 10 per cent retention clause and no renegotiation clause.

"It further appears," the jurors said, "there was no necessity for the amount of work which was performed under the terms of the contract and that the charges made by Manu-Mine were grossly unfair and completely out of line with standard prices for comparable services by firms competitive to Manu-Mine.

Dictated Terms

They said that Evans conspired with his son, the late Richard H. Evans, a Manu-Mine stockholder, Stickler and Landsidle in negotiating the contract "on terms dictated by Manu-Mine," with the "acquiescence and assistance" of Torrance, the commission employes recommended for indictment, and the two Greiner Company employes.

The Rogers Brothers officials and employes were accused of preparing fictitious weight slips for truck loads of silt to the mine-filling project "in order to give the appearance of having delivered and produced this greater amount" to the drilling holes.

the tax burden will not fall on Gov. Leader's administration, but upon his successor.

Republican House members have steadfastly held that they will speed passage of priority legislation to clear the docket for the governor's budget expected during the week of Feb. 4. Johnson said he planned to hold a "consent session" Thursday for the avowed purpose of advancing bills from the second to third readings. The maneuver would give the proposals a full day "jump" in clearing the House.

Money Lenders Get Premium Payments

WASHINGTON (UP) — Money lenders more and more are demanding — and getting — extra premium payments for loans they make on home mortgages.

The practice is most prevalent on VA and FHA loans — which carry fixed interest rates but are guaranteed by the government. But it also is being applied to some extent in conventional loans, especially construction loans, although the "money market" supply and demand supposedly determines the interest rate.

Here is how the premium system works:

Lenders charge the home builder or seller an extra fee for the mortgage loan which the lender makes to the buyer. They refer to this charge as "points" to avoid the distasteful words "per cent" or "fee."

A nationwide United Press survey shows that the fee runs as high as 10 per cent (or points) of the loan itself.

This fee is over and above the interest rate which the lender collects from the buyer on the mortgage itself.

But it doesn't stop there. The home buyer himself often pays a one per cent fee for obtaining a VA or FHA mortgage loan.

Furthermore, in instances where the "point" fees are added to the cost of the house, the buyer has to pay more in the long run because he is paying interest— over many years — on an inflated price.

Lenders justify the "point" system or extra fees, arguing that they have to do this to get what they consider a "fair" return on the money they invest in home mortgages.

The system, though legal, has been denounced in and out of Congress as "gouging — or worse." Some have said it is tantamount to usury.

The "point" system was started about five years ago when mortgage money began tightening up. It has become more and more prevalent since.

The United Press survey showed that the system is used practically everywhere in the country except in the Chicago and Boston areas.

a counter-move to the Eisenhower Doctrine. It was not known if the Communist proposal was included in the discussions.

The leaders of the Big Four Arab States conferred behind locked doors into the late hours Friday night, and delegations representing the leaders held a separate meeting which lasted until after midnight.

A communique issued Friday night said topics discussed included "the Eisenhower plan, the Suez Canal, the attack against Egypt, Jordan, and the strengthening of relations." It did not elaborate.

A second communique was expected after Saud's departure today.

(Reports in London said the final communique was expected to announce the position of Egypt, Jordan, Syria and Saudi Arabia on the controversial Eisenhower Doctrine.)

Nasser and the Syrian press have sharply attacked the Eisenhower plan.

Inaugural Activities Underway

WASHINGTON (UP)—The nation's capital today opened the first phase of its quadrennial spectacular — the inauguration of a president.

The three-day celebration officially begins tonight with a million dollar variety show expected to attract so many people that it will be held in two places.

Stage, movie and TV stars will shuttle between the flag-draped Capitol Theater and Uline Arena to perform before sell-out houses. Among the stars appearing will be Ray Bolger, Pat Boone, Phil Silvers, Tony Martin, Tony and Sally DeMarco and Edgar Bergen.

The President will be sworn into office privately Sunday at the White House—more than 24 hours before he takes his second-term oath publicly at inaugural ceremonies in front of the Capitol.

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty announced Friday at least 57 persons will witness the private oath-taking. No members of the press will attend.

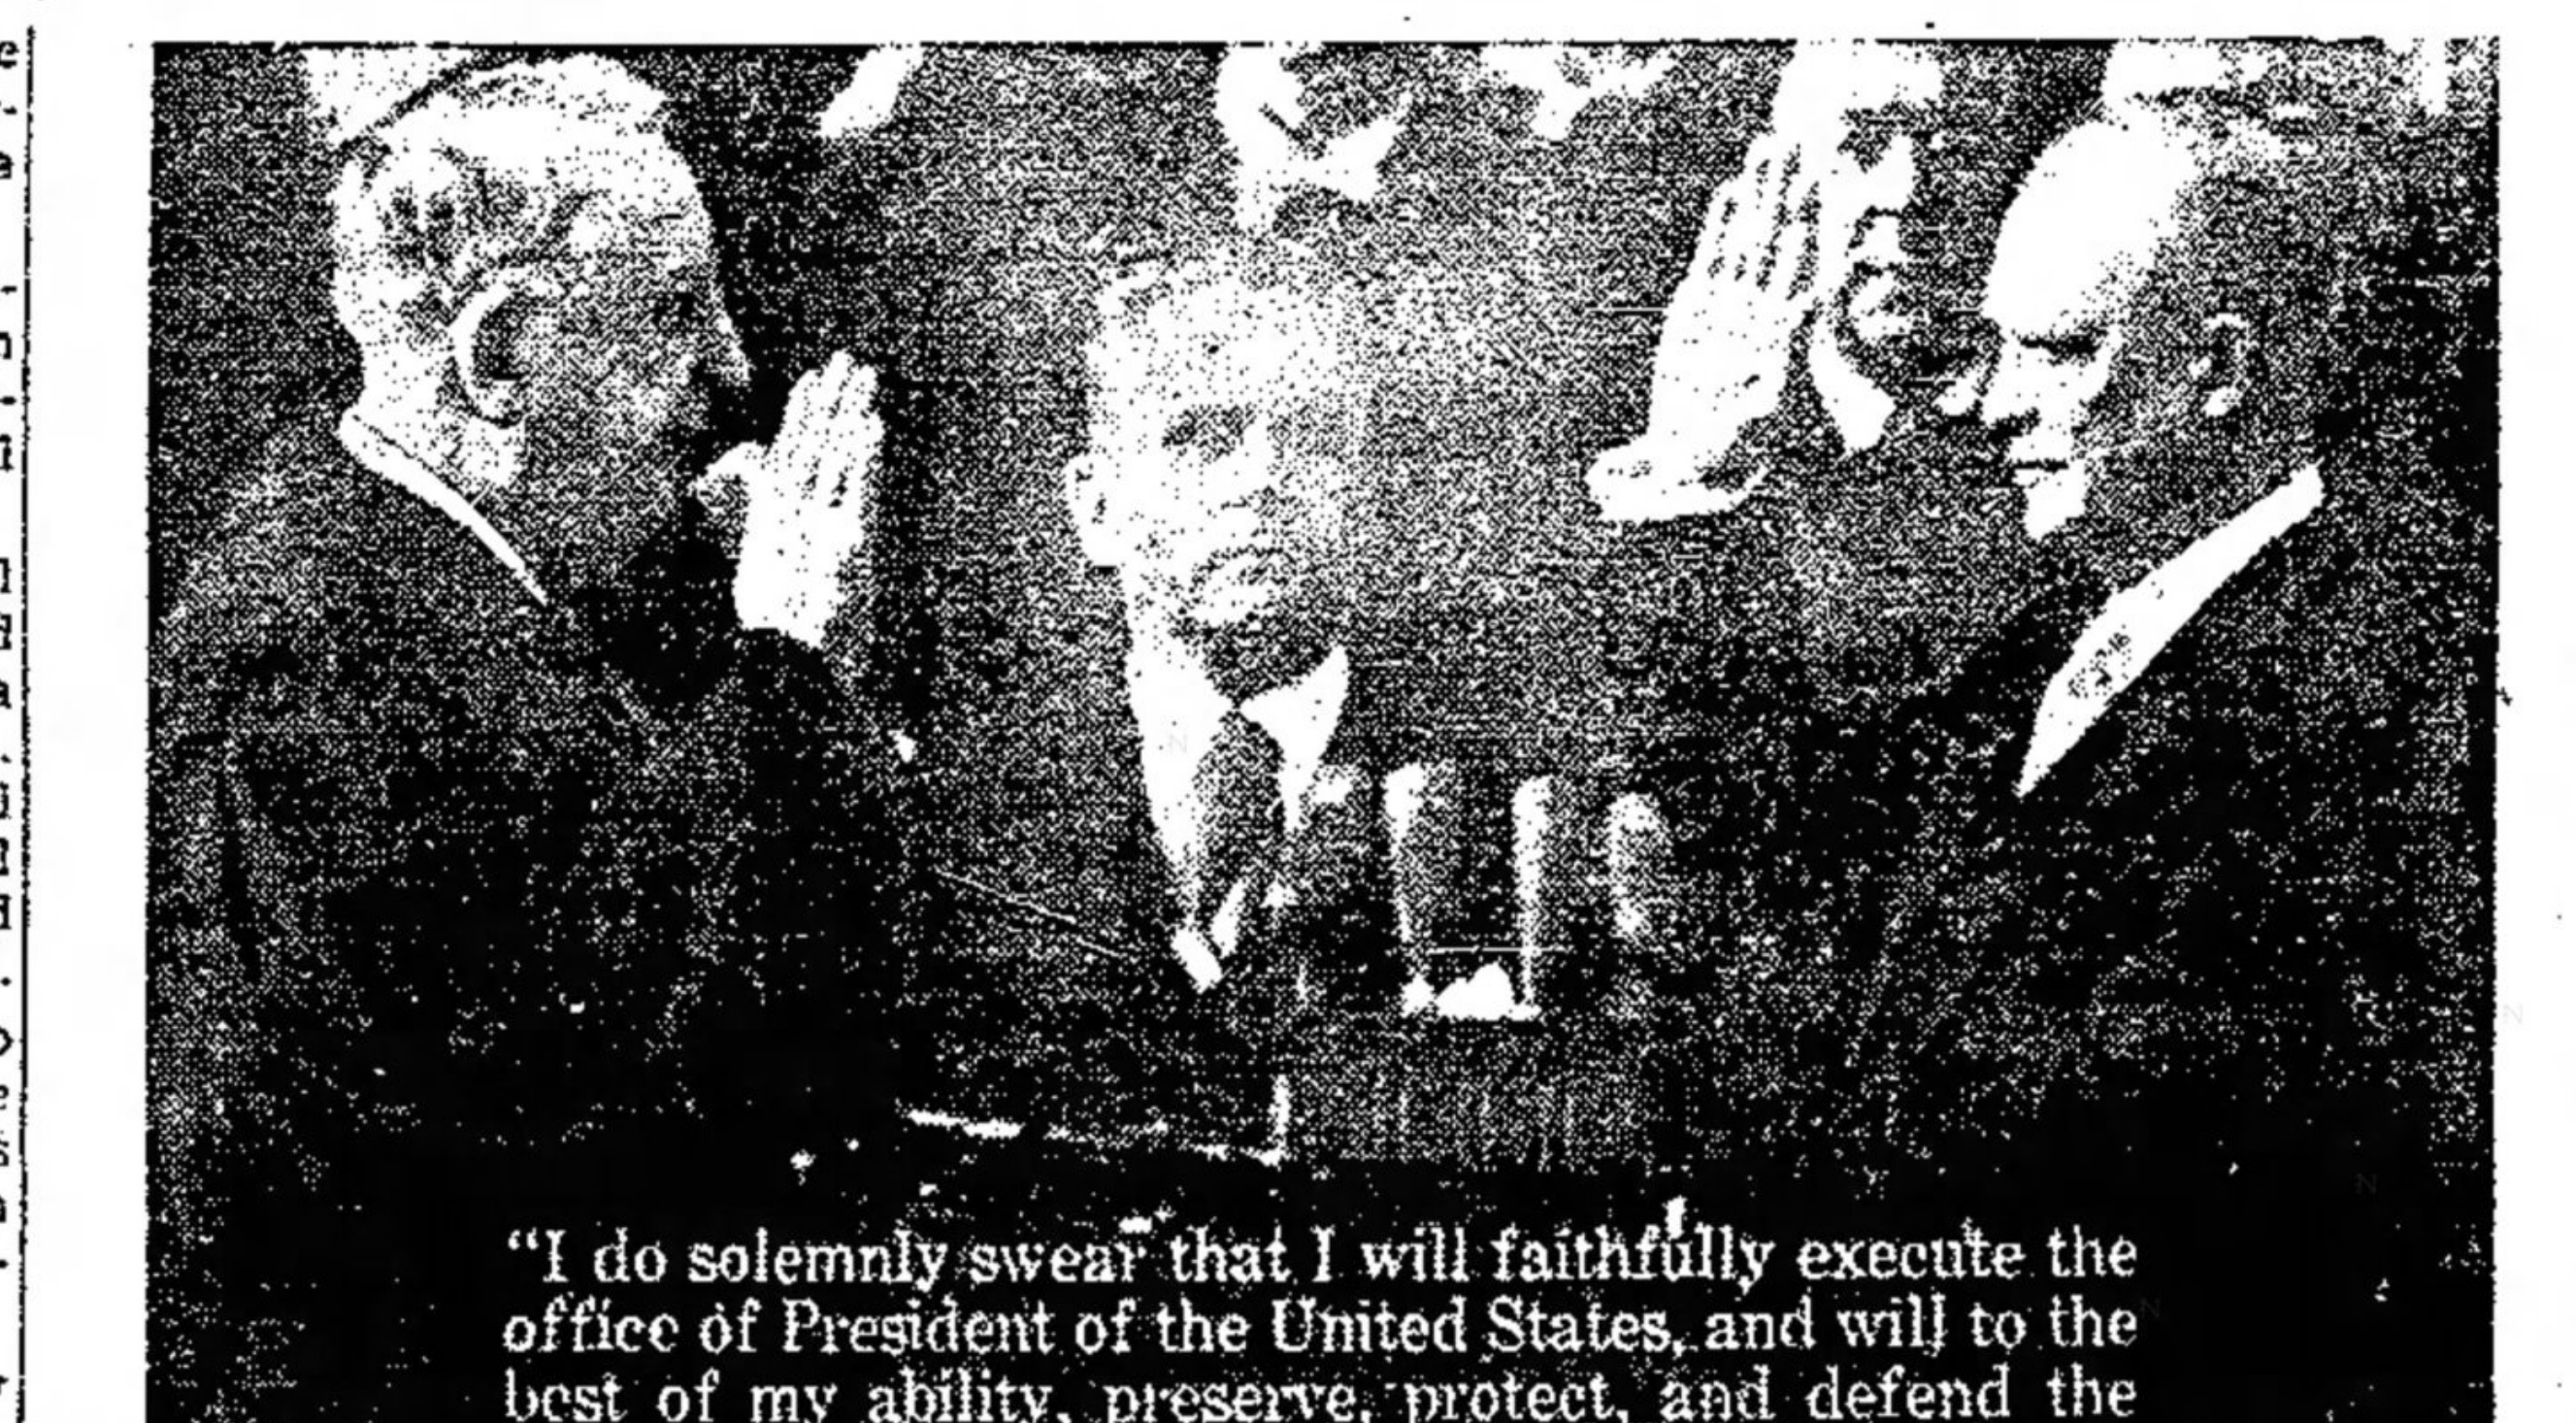
Those present will include members of the families of both the President and Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

One of the President's brothers, Edgar, a Tacoma, Wash., attorney, will miss the ceremony because he recently injured his back. But his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William O. Causin of Tacoma, will be on hand.

The White House said Mr. and Mrs. Eisenhower, accompanied by their son and daughter-in-law, Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower, will attend special Sunday services at 9 a.m. EST at National Presbyterian Church. The Nixons also will attend.

Mr. Eisenhower and Nixon will drive back to the White House together and take their oaths of office in the East Room at about 10:30 a.m. The vice president will be sworn in first.

Chief Justice Earl Warren will administer the oath to Mr. Eisenhower both Sunday and Monday.



"I do solemnly swear that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States, and will to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the Constitution of the United States."

Chou Is Enroute To Asia

LONDON (UP)—Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai flew back to Asia today to resume the tour he interrupted to put out the fires in Moscow's East European backyards.

Radio Moscow said Chou arrived this morning in Tashkent, capital of the Uzbek Soviet Republic. He is enroute to Kabul, Afghanistan.

Chou broke off his tour for urgent consultations in Moscow with Soviet leaders and a swing through restive Poland and Hungary. Communist sources in London said his mission insured victory for Soviet Communist Party Boss Nikita S. Khrushchev over the diehard Stalinist elements in the Kremlin heirarchy.

Before leaving Moscow Friday, Chou joined with Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin in blasting the Eisenhower Doctrine for the Middle East and the West in general.

In a joint communique, they promised "necessary support" to Middle East countries in resisting the "colonial policies" of the Eisenhower Doctrine. The communique did not specify the form of this assistance.

The 2,500-word communique followed the usual Communist propaganda line in denouncing the United States, Britain and France for seeking to undermine the unity of the "socialist camp."

It demanded Britain, France and Israel pay reparations for the damages caused by their "aggressive action" against Egypt.

The United States was pictured as seeking "world wide domination" and conducting a "policy of aggression and preparing for war." Nevertheless, the communique said China and Russia want "peaceful coexistence" with the United States.

The communique indicated the ideological crisis in the East European satellites. It said relations among the Communist states now are of a "new international type" based on the independence and sovereignty of each state in accordance with the "leninist principles of national equality."

Rescue Crews Fight to Reach Five Entombed

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UP)—Rescue crews fought an unrelenting battle today to reach five men entombed deep in a coal mine by a violent explosion.

Workers battled their way inch by inch down the 1,000-foot mine slope at Jonesville, Alaska, 65 miles north of here but at last report were still only 35 feet from the mine entrance.

The men were believed trapped at the 150-foot level.

Several cave-ins near the mine entrance slowed the rescue effort Friday and hopes that the men woud be found alive dimmed by the hour.

Relatives, friends and co-workers of the miners clustered around the mine entrance Friday, unmindful of the 5 to 10 above zero weather.

The force of the blast shortly after 2 p.m. EST Friday ripped a large ventilating fan from its housing deep in the mine choking off a large part of the mine's fresh air supply.

Handling of Fund Invites Questions

WE HAVE BEEN reading with great interest and curiosity this week the news dispatches which have been coming from Harrisburg about a special fund which is controlled by the State Secretary of Labor and Industry.

The fund is nominally a federal fund assembled from fines and penalties assessed against employers who are remiss in contributions to the unemployment compensation fund. The law, it seems, puts this fund under the exclusive control of the Secretary of Labor and Industry and does not subject it to the ordinary disbursement and auditing procedures of the state government. The fund — now amounting to well over $1 million — is intended to be used for surveys and other rather vaguely defined purposes in connection with unemployment compensation.

There seems to be some difference of opinion as to whether Mr. Torquato's handling of this fund is being "investigated" with a view to disclosing some suspected wrong-doing or whether a check-up is being made in the course of routine by the Governor's office. Whichever it is, the results have not as yet been made known officially.

Nevertheless, enough has come out in the papers to suggest that Mr. Torquato has been dishing out some of the fund for political purposes. It is disclosed, for example that his own brother is on the payroll; so is a brother of the Democratic state chairman. Reporters have learned that several other persons drawing regular salaries from the fund have other occupations presumably requiring their full time. Which invites questions as to what they may be doing to earn their salaries from the special fund.

Also, one can hardly read down the list of 30 some names without noticing that half or more are definitely of Italian origin. Which may suggest that Mr. Torquato is also engaging in a little nationalistic nepotism.

We are strongly inclined to suggest that if no one is now "investigating" the handling of this fund, someone ought to get started right soon. At the very least, it appears that the legislature will want to make some changes in the law in order to provide better checks on the manner in which the fund is administered.

The Changes in Britain

THE CHANGES which have been made in the British government in the wake of Sir Anthony Eden's resignation as prime minister hardly add up to an admission of error by the Conservative party in the launching of the ill-fated attack upon Egypt. In fact, we have the impression that about all that has really been done is to make a scapegoat of Sir Anthony.

Harold Macmillan, the new prime minister, was one of the more outspoken advocates of the attack on Egypt in the Eden cabinet. And he was chosen for the premiership over R. A. Butler, another Eden cabinet member who had openly opposed the Suez attack.

Now several of the appointments which Mr. Macmillan has made in his new government suggest that at No. 10 Downing street there is still no sense that the attack was wrong. At most the feeling seems to be that something went awry in the planning or execution of the operation and that it is for this that Sir Anthony has paid the supreme political penalty.

If this is the case, we wonder how far the governmental changes go towards satisfying British public opinion and also how far they go towards recreating an atmosphere in which British-American cooperation can be restored to what it was before the Suez fiasco.

A Useless Law

SOME of our very best laws — on paper — don't amount to much in practice because they are not enforced.

One such law, which most communities have on their statute books, requires property owners and residents to keep their sidewalks clear of ice and snow.

We have such an ordinance in Monessen, and as we recall its provisions, it is a well-drafted law. If the property owner or resident does not clean his sidewalk, the City can do it for him and send him the bill.

But the law is worthless because it isn't enforced. With the result that some dangerous and unsightly conditions exist all over town, including the business district, which seems to us inexcusable — law or no law.

We'd like to see the responsible people at the City Hall dust off this ordinance and put it to work. We have an idea the public would quickly see the difference it can make and would appreciate it.

Merry-Go-Round—

School Bill Advocates Get Backer

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Few voters realize how one vote on a congressional committee can mean schoolhouses or lack of schoolhouses for their children next year.

Mr. Pearson

A backstage drama illustrating this took place the other day in the House of Representatives.

Fifteen House Democrats, belonging to the Committee on Committees, met behind closed doors to assign new congressmen to their committees. One important vacancy was open on the Education and Labor Committee which last year hamstrung school construction.

Southern solons, who fear federal aid for schools will be tied to integration, hunted for a fellow Southerner to fill the vacancy. They finally proposed ex-Sen. Alton Lennon, now a Congressman from North Carolina, a strong segregationist. Lennon personally preferred to serve on the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee but, largely because of his strong racial views, he was drafted for the Education and Labor Committee.

Another Vote

This gave the conservative Republican-Southern Democratic coalition another vote to help block school aid.

The Lennon appointment stood overnight. Then Minnesota's vigorous Congressman Eugene McCarthy, Democrat, (no relation to Joe), mentally counted votes and discovered the Northerners outnumbered the Southerners eight to seven on the Committee on Committees which decides who shall sit on what committee.

The next day, McCarthy suggested a reshuffle.

"It seems to me," he said sweetly, without referring to schools or segregation, "that Representative Lennon should be given a chance to go on the committee of his choice, the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee."

His solicitude for Lennon was backed by eight Northern votes, opposed by seven Southern votes. As a result, Southerner Lennon was shifted to the committee of his choice, new Congressman George McGovern of South Dakota was assigned to the key Labor Committee post.

Washington Whirl

Senator McCarthy is still trying to investigate Brig. Gen. Ralph Zwicker, who precipitated the sensational Army-McCarthy hearings by refusing to kowtow to Joe. Now that Zwicker is up for promotion to two stars, Joe has written to Armed Services Chairman Dick Russell (D., Ga.) demanding an investigation . . . Congressman Keith Thomson (R., Wyo.) is so unpopular with his staff that every last one walked out on him . . . Sen. George Smathers (D., Fla.), chairman of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, has promised Ken Holum a job that will keep him in the limelight to run against Sen. Karl Mundt (R., S.D.) in 1960. Holum almost upset Sen. Francis Case in last year's scrappy South Dakota Senate race . . . Congressman Dan Flood (D., Pa.) has written a private letter to House Foreign Affairs Chairman Thomas Gordon warning that it would take 30 days for the Air Force to fly one combat division to the Middle East Wrote Flood: "If the Middle East resolution before your committee is going to be effective as a deterrent to Communist aggression, we must be able to transport our troops from this country to the trouble spot in 24 hours instead of 30 days." . . . Flood complained that the Air Force hasn't enough transport planes. "We have equipped ourselves with a force of fire fighters and a police force," he wrote, "but we have failed to provide them with the fire engines, motorcycles, and squad cars which they need to get there in a hurry."

Brass Hat Hunting

Air Force and Army brass who have been hunting in Alaska at the taxpayers' expense are in for trouble from the House Interior Committee.

Chairman Clair Engle of California, long worried over growing encroachments by the armed forces on the nation's wildlife resources, is on the warpath.

He has already drawn an admission from a Defense Department study group that the armed forces have sequestered more of the public domain than they actually need. Now the committee is checking reports that high-ranking officers have been using the surplus land to hunt and fish without respect for local wildlife regulations.

In Alaska it's known that top-drawer Pentagon officers have purchased resident hunting licenses for only $3. This indicates they've been flying to Alaska to hunt, also have fudged on purchasing the required non-resident licenses at $45.

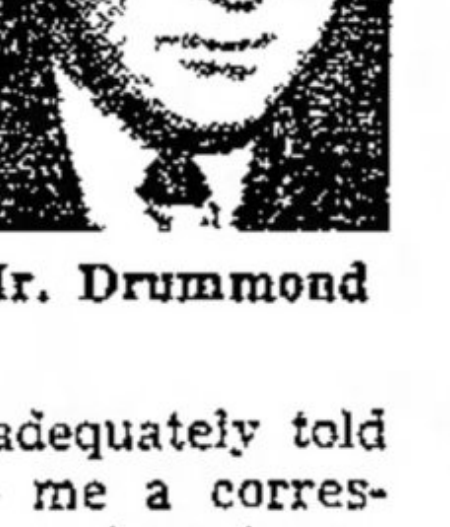
Drought Survey—

New Dust Bowl in Making

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

WICHITA, Kan. — The headlines in the wake of President Eisenhower's tour of the drought-ravaged prairies of the mid-West are faithfully telling the story — the story of the impoverishing havoc of the worst drought this 1,000-mile span of the Great Plains has seen in 700 years, the worst which hundreds of thousands of farmers and ranchers have experienced since this arid land was settled 77 years ago.



Mr. Drummond

What isn't being adequately told and what seems to me a correspondent must report with all the candor and directness at his command is:

That no measures remotely equal to preparing for the future, no measures equal to preventing the ravages of recurring drought are being carried out.

That there is no evidence to encourage the view that enough is being done or is going to be done now, when the urgency is most grimly visible, to keep it all from happening again.

I am not suggesting that anybody thinks that these heart-rending droughts can be prevented.

Time Being Lost

What I am reporting is that everybody — farmers, ranchers, farm specialists, state and federal officials — know that much of the grevious disaster to man and earth can be prevented.

Now is the time — and time and opportunity are being lost.

These droughts, these "dust bowl" recurrences, are nothing new. They have been the pattern of the Great Plains of America for centuries. They have lately been coming about every 20 years — and with more ferocity. The drought of the '30s was worse than its predecessor. The drought of the '50s is wider and more intense than the drought of the '30s.

Even if the droughts can't be stopped, the worst of the consequences can be stopped when the willingness, the vision, the discipline and the resources are mobilized to do it.

More than 14 million acres of this land imperatively needs to be taken out of regular cultivation, and nothing that is now being attempted or discussed comes near to that goal.

Nearly all this land is subject to wind erosion during prolonged droughts. Some of it blows every year. Part is sloping land and is also subject to water erosion during heavy rains. Converting such poor cropland to grassland can be done economically only during periods of good rainfall, but the decisions which will make that possible must be taken now or, as in the good-crop '40s they will not be taken at all.

Besides this, a considerable change in land use must be made in many areas, and better soil, water, crop and range management practices must be widely adopted. They are not being adopted widely enough so anyone can say that another dust bowl is not in the making before this one is over.

Farmers and ranchers acting singly and separately cannot shield themselves from dust-bowl conditions. To do it only partly subjects the prudent users of the land to consequences which come from those who are not prudent. Farmers and ranchers cannot do it alone. Neither the state nor the federal government can do it alone. They will have to act together or it will happen all over again They are not acting together today to any degree equal to the problem.

And the nation as a whole has a definite responsibility. It was the federal government's insistent appeal for more and more food during the war which in part caused vast areas of this land to be cultivated as it never should have been.

During his inspection trip this week Mr. Eisenhower was understandably impressed by the spirit of the hard-hit people. They seemed to him dogged, almost buoyant. But this attitude is, in part, dangerously wishful. Its premise is that rain will solve the problem of the drought It won't. It may temporarily solve their personal problem, but unless long-range protections are accepted now, another President will be taking another inspection trip through the drought - ravaged Great Plains in 1977 — and some 20 million Americans will again be affected.

A Book About Books Attracts Much Attention

By UNITED PRESS

A book about books that is bound to attract much attention is "Sixty Years of Best Sellers" (1895-1955) by Alice Payne Hackett (Bowker). Here is an up-to-date record of books published in the U. S. that most readers preferred. The record is broken down into several categories such as hardbound books, paperbound, cookbooks, technical, religious, etc. Fiction and non-fiction "trade books" are listed year by year along with contemporary news events. Flipping through the pages can be a fascinating excursion down memory lane. For instance in 1914 when World War I started. America was reading books like "Pollyanna", "Penrod", and the "Prince of Graustark." The year the stock market crashed. 1929 "All Quiet on the Western Front" and "The Art of Thinking" topped the lists. In the depression year of 1933, "Anthony Adverse" and "Life Begins at Forty" were leading in sales. In 1939 when Hitler invaded Poland, "The Grapes of Wrath" and "Days of Our Years" were tops. At war's end in 1945, "Forever Amber" and "Brave Men" were the fiction and non-fiction leaders.

The Right Route to More Abundant Life

By HARRY R. PORE, Jr.

David J. McDonald, the handsome president of the United Steelworkers who is in a contest to keep his job, this week took a leaf from the campaign book of Vice President Nixon.

Speaking to one of a series of conferences of USW leaders which are going on around the country, Mr. McDonald peered into his crystal ball. And what he saw there made some interesting reading for everybody who lives in the shadow of a steel mill.

A four-day work week, a five-day 30-hour week, a vacation of three or four months every fifth year — these are some of the things Mr. McDonald sees ahead for the steelworker.

We were reminded of a similar speech which Mr. Nixon made somewhere out west during the recent campaign. He, too, spoke of the four-day week as being within reach.

The Vice President didn't say—and neither did Mr. McDonald—that the fulfillment of these dreams may be contingent upon the election of the "right" candidates. But the context of the remarks makes them susceptible, possibly, to such an inference.

I doubt, however, if these ideas are as far-fetched as they may sound on a hasty first reading. Although some of us are still trying to figure out how to get down to a six-day week, I'm sure this is due mainly to an exaggerated idea of our own importance. It could also be that we are not as busy as we are confused.

Projects the Trend

But nobody can glance back at what has been done in just one generation to lighten the burden of man's work, manual and mental, and to increase his leisure time and then say that Mr. McDonald is talking through his hat. Actually about all he has done is to project this trend at a similar rate into another generation.

This is alright with me, too except that I would like to inject just a couple of philosophical reservations.

The first would take the form of a hope that the American people never become haters of work. I consider myself as lazy as the next fellow, but I can see some danger in today's world for a nation of people dedicated to a search for leisure.

Secondly, I think it is going to make a difference how we achieve the four-day week and the four-month vacation whether they are going to be good for us and for the country.

Mr. McDonald indicated in his talk that he plans to try to get these benefits for the steelworkers by negotiating them from the steel companies through the might of his union. And certainly that's one way to get them.

But I think it is going to be much safer for all of us if such gains are earned by increased production, whether through harder efforts by individual workers or by improved machines and methods —or both.

Blough Speaks

Another man who has a good deal to say about what happens in the steel industry was talking on this same subject this week—Roger Blough, chairman of the board of U. S. Steel. And he was saying that in the past 20 years or so we have become pretty good at dividing up the fruits of our production. But we have not been paying enough attention, he thinks, to the matter of multiplying our capacity to produce. And it is this latter capacity that is necessary if we are to increase still further our standard of living.

Mr. Blough made the statement that "the principal roots of the present inflation are wages that have been rising far more rapidly than productivity. . ."

Mr. McDonald would give him an argument on that, I'm sure, and I have no intention of settling it for them here. The answer probably would hinge upon whose statistics you use.

But let's not fool ourselves that we can build a richer life for ourselves and our children just by having unions big enough and bold enough to get the best of the big corporations in periodic negotiations over wage rates. We're going to get this richer life by working, if not harder, then more skillfully and efficiently. Any other way is bound to be an illusion.

English Starlings Pests, Should Be Deported

By JOHN H. DAY

It's a bit disconcerting to walk out these cold winter mornings and hear an oriole singing somewhere overhead. Or to catch the flight call of the killdeer keening down from a sky white with swirling snowflakes. I just can't get used to this weird bird music, and every day have to remind myself that the ear-fooling mimicry is only one more reason why the uncouth English starling should be drummed out of the country. There's one starling which has learned the song of the bluebird perfectly. Every time I pass near him he cuts loose with the blue fellow's melody, so real I can almost feel the soft wind of late March's bluebird weather on my face.

Perhaps the starling pays his way by working on Japanese beetles and such. I know that a small army of these arrogant interlopers has nearly devoured all the wind-fallen apples left beneath two of the trees in our yard. Occasionally they deploy over the lawns, and how a weed seed or an insect egg can escape this searching black cloud is beyond me. But they push out our native song birds, and that is where I fall out with them completely.

One of these yellow-billed mimics must have loafed near a street corner for he has down pat the "wolf" whistle of the drugstore cowboy. It's really an experience for one of the fair sex to walk along and suddenly have this soot-suited playboy whistle at her from the top of a poplar tree. But with all his mimicry and beetle eating and wonderful precision flying I still think the starling should somehow be deported back across the water.

Bird Songs Have Words

Country folk who have watched and listened to our native song birds across the years have set many of their songs to words. For instance they say the meadowlark makes fun of the lazy farmer, singing:

"Laziness will kill you
Laziness will kill you"

Next time you hear one of these fellows singing, mark well how exactly the words fit his song.

These same country folk whimsically insist that the robin sings in derision of the country doctor this ditty:

"Kill him,
Cure him,
Give him
Physic".

One hot day last August an indigo bunting came and sang to me as I rested, perspiring and out of breath, after a hard hillside climb. He lighted on a maple spray above me, cocked his head to one side, looked at me quizzically and said, plain as day, "Dear, Dear, Who is it, who is it, who is it? Dear, Dear." Every bunting I have heard since that day has sung exactly those same words.

The Thrasher's Song

One of our finest bird singers is the brown thrasher. He sings a more or less simple phrase, repeats it, sings an elaboration of it, repeats that, and so on, the phrase and the elaboration varying with the bird. Some country folk say the thrasher watches the corn planting and then sings:

"Plow it, plow it,
Plant it, plant it,
Pull it up, pull it up,
Eat it"

With a great deal of emphasis on the "eat it".

The red bird in our yard sings "Pretty! Pretty! Pretty!" whenever my wife walks out. The Maryland yellow-throat in the creekside tangles warns that "We cheat you, we cheat you, we cheat you!" But in the June twilight it is the woodthrush who closes the day, fluting:

"Good night,
All is well.
God is good".

Stetsko Doing Fine at Bethany

The other day we reported that Monessen's Johnny Stetsko had scored ten points for Bethany College in a basketball game against West Virginia Tech. Now the athletic department at Bethany College supplies additional details. It seems that Stetsko, a gangling freshman who never played basketball in high school, entered the game at half-time and promptly pushed in five one-handed field goals. Earlier he had played 47 minutes of a junior varsity game, scoring 24 points . . . Incidentally West Virginia Tech won the game after a real struggle. However the Tech boys, who have captured 17 straight games, fell far below their average scoring output. Until the Bethany encounter they had been averaging 107 points per game!

Best player to appear at the Monessen High gym this season is James (Beanie) Gordon, 5-10 senior from Washington. There are those basketball fans in town who feel that Gordon is the finest visiting performer to ever appear at the spacious Greyhound floor. They aren't far wrong, either . . . Don Savini, Greensburg High's all-around athlete, is reportedly headed for West Point . . . Those boxing shows in Arnold are proing artistic successess but financial failures. The first event cost the promoters an estimated $900. And they haven't been able to catch up since.

Charleroi Wins Streak in Jeopardy

Charleroi Junior High's brilliant streak of 94 straight basketball wins at home will be in serious jeopardy on Monday. That's when the Junior Cougars will play host to unbeaten Donora . . . During his visit to Monessen last weekend, Notre Dame quarterback Paul Hornung had this joking comment to offer: "We could have won the Oklahoma game (which the Irish lost, 40-0) with a few breaks . . . for instance, you take back five long runs, three touchdown passes, two fumbles and a blocked kick and we're in the game! . . . No wonder the West Virginia University basketballers have a 12-3 record this season. They're hitting on 41 per cent of their field goal attempts.

Best-looking sophomore prospect in Section 5 basketball this season is California's Nat Greene. As a matter of fact, Trojan coach Bill Watkins has a whole flock of sophomores who look pretty good . . . A group of Monessen amateur boxers plan to resume workouts soon at Memorial Civic Center in preparation for the Golden Glove bouts in Pittsburgh. Raymond Crable, who has some boxing experience, has volunteered to help train the lads . . . West Newton basketball coach Stewart Townsend, who started his coaching career in Monessen, will retire after the current season. He's 65, the age limit set by the West Newton district.

Clemente Boasts Fine Winter Average

Bob Clemente, the Pirate outfielder, has now upped his average to a whopping .433 in the Puerto Rican winter league . . . Jackie Robinson, the retired baseballer, appeared on Perry Como's television show last Saturday without pay. Como had taken part earlier in a charity event at the request of Jackie . . . Brownsville High is still looking for three football foes to complete the 1957 schedule. Dropping off are California, North Catholic and Trinity . . . Monongahela Junior High's upset win over the Charleroi basketballers the other day marked just the second time since 1948 that the Kittens have beaten a George Chacko-coached quint. quint.

Who Will Patterson Tangle with Next?

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) — Fearless Fraley's facts and figures:

The two major mysteries in boxing today are who will heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson fight next and will light heavyweight champ Archie Moore fight.

Whispers from the wallop set are that Patterson will defend against Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson in a June outdoor fight and that before then Moore will have pared down to the light heavy limit again to meet Chuck Spieser of Detroit. Meaning that both successfully defend their titles.

Still A Yankee

The placing of Jackie Robinson of Brooklyn's voluntary retired list brought the revelation that Joe DiMaggio, who quit after the 1951 season, still is carried on the New York Yankee voluntary retired list. This assures the club that if the player wanted to return to baseball in any capacity, even as a scout, he would have to do it for the same team. So DiMag still is the Yankees' Clipper.

Sal Maglie, the Dodger dandy who could have won most valuable player honors on his amazing comeback season, says that most losing pitchers get that way because of carelessness.

"You can't ever relax and give the hitter a fat pitch," he insists. "When you do—boom! It took me a long time to learn it, but you've got to keep bearing down on every pitch, think and work all the time, and shoot at nothing but those corners."

A Realistic View

Matt Resick, Kent State baseball coach, takes a realistic view of the college raiding by pro baseball, asserting that "I'm not concerned about the signing of good boys but by the indiscriminate signing of a great number to get a few good ones by the law of averages." His theory is that too many boys thus drop out of college and lose their education.

The Caribbean winter golf circuit is making a big bid for name stars. They're showing progress, too, with such as Herman Barron, Chick Harbert, Vic Chezzi, Ralph Hutchinson, Roberto Divicenzo and Flory van Donck entered in the Puerto Rico Open Jan. 31-Feb. 3.

Ray (Shrimp) Schanrn, the bowling instructor, almost makes the game look too easy. In a demonstration at Marquette University he rolled 300-258-300 — 858 Tennis, anyone?

Charleroi Trips California

Cougars Roll on, 60 to 33

Charleroi's towering Cougars swamped invading California, 60-33, in a Section 5 basketball encounter last night.

The win set the stage for Tuesday's big showdown between Charleroi and Monessen. That struggle will match perfect league records of four wins and no loses.

The Charleroians handled the Trojans with remarkable ease. They never worked up a sweat while piling up big scoring margins in each of the first three periods.

At the end of three stanzas, the home team was ahead, 53-23. That was the signal for the reserves to come on and finish out the game.

Ollie Payne, 6-3 center, scored 20 points for the winners. Jim Chacko chipped in with 16.

For the Trojans, Ken Kulak was high with 11.

Charleroi now boasts an overall season record of 13-1.

Two Mile Run Will Feature K. of C. Meet

BOSTON (UP) —A Hungarian expatriate, an FBI agent and a salesman from New Jersey will be climbing up each others heels tonight in what is expected to be one of the top events in the 31st annual Knights of Columbus Track Meet at the Garden

The Larrivee Memorial Two-Mile Run — with Laszlo Tabori, Horace Ashenfelter and Fred Dwyer all primed for a victory—will probably overshadow the meet's usual headliner, the O'Reilly Mile

The mile run lost its best known entry when Ireland's Ron Delany withdrew because of underweight.

The 25-year-old Tabori, a Hungarian who holds the world's 5000-meter record and who has run a 3:59 mile, will be making both his American and indoor debut. He is said to be at his best in the two-mile run. Ashenfelter, the FBI agent, has won the Larrivee Two-Mile five of the last six times Dwyer, a salesman from East Orange, N. J., and former Villanova star, picked the two-mile event this year to tune up for a shot at an under-four-minute-mile outdoors this spring.

Closely grouped in the mile will be Phil Coleman of the University of Chicago who has run the mile in 4:04.5, George King of the New York Athletic Club, Deacon Jones of Iowa City, Iowa, and Ted Wheeler of the University of Chicago.

Gold Medalists

Two Olympic gold medalists will be competing in the hurdles. Lee Calhoun of North Caroina College set a new mark at Melbourne in the 10-meter high hurdles, while Milt Campbell of Plainfield, N. J., captured the Olympic decathlon.

Charey Jenkins of Villanova, who won two gold medals for the 400-meters and the relay in Australia, will be defending in the Prout 600.

Tom Courtney, a former Fordham star, is favored in the Bishop Cheverus 1000 yards, with Pittsburgh's Arnie Sowell rated close behind.

Two defending champions entered are Phil Reavis in the high jump and George Sydnor in the 50-yard dash. Both are from Villanova

Wrigley to Get Baseball Award From Writers

NEW YORK (UP) — Philip K. Wrigley, president of the Chicago Cubs, today was selected to receive the 1957 William J. Slocum award for "long and meritorious service" to baseball.

The award, given by the New York Chapter of the Baseball Writers' Assn. of America, will be presented to Wrigley at the chapter's annual dinner and show Feb. 3.

Wrigley is the oldest National League club president from point of service. He took over as president of the Cubs on Oct. 26, 1934, two years after the death of his father, William Wrigley Jr.

During his 35 years in organized baseball, Philip Wrigley pioneered in the development and promotion of the ladies day idea and the introduction of children's tickets for major league games. He was the first owner to permit all home games to be broadcast over radio and was an early booster of televised baseball.

Although the big league clubs now go in heavily for night baseball, Wrigley has remained a champion of daylight games. Wrigley Field, home of the Cubs, is the only park in the majors without lights and is one of the nation's most attractive stadiums.

Hounds Have No Trouble Posting Section 5 Win

Coach Frank Janosik's Monessen High basketballers tuned up for their big test with Charleroi next Tuesday by polishing off Donora, 59-40, in impressive fashion last night at the losers floor.

The surprisingly easy win was the fourth in a row for the spunky Hounds in Section 5 competition this season. It was also their 38th straight league success over a four year period.

As a result, Monessen and Charleroi will go into their big battle at the MHS gym with identical 4-0 Section 5 records. Charleroi kept pace last night, swarming over California, 60-33.

The poised Greyhounds had no trouble adding Donora to their long list of valley victims. The reckless shooting Donorans were never really in the game.

Janosik's boys outscored their hosts in every period. They were firmly in control all the way.

Off in Shooting

The Dragons, who were obviously off in their shooting, did narrow the margin to eight points once early in the third period. But they never got any closer. Most of the time they were far behind.

Frank Crisi, 6-0 senior, turned in a great performance for the Hounds. He scored 20 points, hitting on nine of 22 attempts from the field.

John Bogovich, 5-10 senior, made 15 points, connecting on six of nine field goal efforts. Carl Crawley, 6-0 senior, came through with 13 tallies.

In all the Hounds made 24 fielders in 60 tries for solid 40 per cent gunning.

Poor Average

In contrast, the Dragons hit on less than 23 per cent of their efforts, finding the range of 14 of 62. High scoring Dave Russell, who finished with 14 points, made just five fielders in 24 attempts. He missed his first 11 tries, which explains in part why the Donorans fell behind from the outset.

Part of Donora's inaccuracy must be credited to the Hounds fine defense. Monessen boys blanketed the inside area and forced the Dragons to gun away wildly from far outside

The win gave the Hounds a 9-5 overall season record. In loving, the Dragons sustained their third league setback in five games. That all but eliminates the dark horse Dragons from section contention.

Colgate Coach Goes to Houston

HOUSTON, Tex. (UP)— Coach Harold Lahar of Colgate, who apparently fit the bill as "the man doing more with his material than anyone else," was preparing to leave the New York school today to take over as head coach at the University of Houston.

The 38-year-old Lahar accepted a bid from the young but wealthy Houston school Friday to take over where Coach Bill Meek left to accept a 10-year, $17,000 pact with Southern Methodist.

Lahar wasn't job hunting when Houston athletic director Harry Fouke sought him out for an interview at the recent NCAA convention. He had just closed out his fifth successful season at ivy-shrouded Colgate and leaves that school with a 24-17-4 record.

Houston officials didn't disclose any details of Lahar's contract, but the former University of Oklahoma guard was drawing between $10,000 and $12,000 at Colgate.

Lahar was a member of the world champion professional Chicago Bears in 1941. He captained the Buffalo Bills for three seasons and was a graduate student and assistant coach at Arkansas. He also served as line coach at West Virginia and as assistant at Pittsburgh before going to Colgate.

Bellmar Defeats Monongahela

Canes Win Overtime Tilt, 47-44

Bellmar High's spunky dribblers scored their first Section 5 win of the season last night, nipping Monongahela, 47-44, in an overtime thriller at the losers gym.

Jim Bitonti, 5-10 Bellmar playmaker, was the star. He sparked the late Cane drive which netted the win.

Going into the final period, Bitonti had just one field goal to his credit. Then he got hot.

In the closing moments of regulation time, he hit on three straight baskets. In the overtime, Bitonti scored all four Bellmar points, stealing an errant Monongahela pass for one of his efforts.

Actually Bellmar almost won the game in regulation time. With just a second to go, and the Canes in front, 43-42, the officials called a double foul.

John Hewitt missed his try for Bellmar but Frank Columbus made his to pull the Wildcats even and thus force the over time.

Ed Kikla canned a foul to put Monongahela ahead in the extra session but Bitonti then staged his heroics to pull the game out for the visitors.

At times, both teams threatened to run away with the game. Monongahela opened a 14-4 lead in the early moments, but the Canes narrowed the home team's lead to 22-19 by intermission.

Early in the third period, the Canes spurted to a 27-22 advantage before Monongahela again closed the gap to require the eventual overtime.

Appropriately enough, Bitonti led the Bellmar point-makers with 12. Bob Beggs had ten.

For the Monongahelans, Ed Kikla was high with 16. Dee Galiffa chipped in with 14.

Monongahela won the Jayvee game, 33-30.

Detroit Lions Win Appeal in Canadian Court

DETROIT (UP)—The Detroit Lions and the National Football League won a major battle Friday with Canadian professional football when a three-man Ontario Supreme Court ruled quarterback Tom Dublinski's contract with Detroit was valid when Dublinski jumped to Toronto.

The court ruling ordered Dublinski to pay the Lions $6,950 in damages as well as the legal costs incurred by the Lions in the trial and the appeal.

Dublinski, understudy to Bobby Layne for three years, was tied to the Lions by the reserve clause when he signed with the Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Big Four League in 1955 for $17,500.

Detroit went to court in Canada to gain an injunction to halt Dublinski from playing there. It was denied. Then the Lions went to trial in March, 1956, asking damages for a breach of contract. That too was denied but the Lions appealed the decision. Friday they won the appeal.

The opinion is seen as marking a precedent in future cases where an American athlete or an athlete under contract to an American team, tries to sign with a Canadian team.

By UNITED PRESS

College basketball activity picks up tonight after a lull for mid-semester examinations.

Pitt (9-6) takes on Army (2-5) at West Point with the Panthers favored to repeat an early season victory over the Cadets. Carnegie Tech, (3-9) which swamped Slippery Rock, 99-49, Dec. 7, is expected to break an eight-game losing streak on the Rockets' home court.

Geneva (8-2) meets St. Francis (6-4) at the Jaffa Mosque in Altoona in another top district game.

In other games, Waynesburg is at Marietta, Steubenville at St. Bonaventure, California Teachers at Fairmont, Clarion at Lock Haven, Lawrence Tech at Gannon and Mt. Union at Youngstown.

SMU Latest High Ranked Team to Bow

By UNITED PRESS

The Southern Methodist Mustangs are the latest high-ranked college basketball team to discover that press clippings don't hold good for enemy floors.

The Mustangs, ranked fourth in the country this week by the United Press Board of Coaches and riding an eight-game victory streak, suffered their second loss in 10 games Friday night when they visited the Texas Longhorns and bowed, 77-68.

The loss to unranked Texas left the Mustangs 4-1 in Southwest Conference play. Baylor (3-1) can tie for the league lead by whipping Rice tonight.

Texas, using a tight zone defense, limited Jim Krebs, Southern Methodist's top point-maker, to 15 points in handing the Mustangs their first conference defeat since Feb. 12, 1955.

It was the same story at Palo Alto, Calif., where Stanford handed visiting Washington its first Pacific Coast Conference defeat, 70-63.

Princeton Wins

Princeton, at home to Dartmouth, boosted its first-place Ivy League mark to 4-0 but had to sweat through an overtime to edge the Indians, 61-59.

Most of the players have switched from baskets to books and are concentrating on mid-year examinations. Of the ten top-ranked teams, only third-ranked Kentucky, eighth-ranked Iowa State, sixth-ranked Louisville and 10th-ranked Vanderbilt play tonight.

Kentucky visits Tennessee, Louisville entertains Kentucky Wesleyan, Iowa State plays host to Oklahoma and Vanderbilt is at home to Georgia Tech.

Ford Favored In Mexican Golf Tourney

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex. (UP)—Durable Doug Ford, undefeated on the 1957 tournament trail, was installed as a 3-1 favorite to win the $15,000 Caliente Open Golf Tournament today — despite the fact he was tied for second place as the event went into the final 36 holes.

Paul Harney, a 27-year-old newcomer to the tournament trail from Bolton, Mass., was in front after firing a blistering 65 Thursday to add to an opening round of 70 for a 135 total.

But Ford, the clever former PGA champion who never had won a winter tournament until he captured the Los Angeles Open the first week of this year and then followed with victory in the Panama City Open, was only one stroke off the pace. He is tied at 136 with Al Besselink, Grossinger's, N. Y., after each man posted a five-under-par 67 Thursday.

In this big betting tourney, where the bookmakers are just about as important as the players, Besselink, Harney, Julius Boros and Ed Furgol are rated at 8-1. Boros and Furgol each have 139 scores, along with Harry Weetman, the Englishman, and Billy Casper, a young shotmaker from nearby Chula Vista, Calif.

Meanwhile, Mike Souchak, the defending champion who had been listed as the pre-tournament favorite at 8-1, went to 15-1 as he shot a 73 for a 141 total. And Dow Finsterwald, who sold for top money of $4,500 in the Calcutta pool, dropped to 30-1 despite the fact he shot a 69 and had a 143 score.

Jones Soundly Beats Smallwood

CLEVELAND (UP) — Third-ranked contender Ralph (Tiger) Jones clamored for a match with new middleweight champion Gene Fullmer today on the strength of a sound but scientific thrashing he handed Hardy (Bazooka) Smallwood Friday night in their televised bout.

Jones, at 156½ pounds, was a 4-1 favorite going into the bout and proved the odds were right with his unanimous decision over the willing and eager Smallwood, who was two pounds heavier.

The Yonkers, N.Y., veteran said he wanted first crack at Fullmer if Sugar Ray Robinson, whom Jones beat soundly in Chicago, does not press his request for a rematch with the champion. Jones' near upset of Fullmer here last April added weight to his claim.

Russell Finds Scoring Range

By UNITED PRESS

The Boston Celtics should be tougher to catch in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division now that Bill Russell has found the scoring range.

The widely-heralded rookie from San Francisco staged his best scoring exhibition Friday night since turning professional, totaling 25 points as the Celtics whipped the St. Louis Hawks, 126-117, in the feature game of a twinbill at Boston.

But Russell was no match for rival center Bob Pettit, who scored 38 points in a losing game.

The Philadelphia Warriors regained second place in the Eastern Division by edging the Syracuse Nationals, 96-94, on a jump shot by Jack George with 20 seconds to play in the first game. Paul Arizin scored 33 points for the winners.

Syracuse entertained St. Louis in today's nationally-televised game.

Coleman Signs With Yanks for About $20,000

By UNITED PRESS

Jerry Coleman, a major in the Marine Reserves and one of Casey Stengel's major reserves, today signed his 1957 contract with the New York Yankees.

The 32-year-old utility infielder, who has played for all of Stengel's seven American League pennant-winners, signed for the same $20,000 he received last year.

Coleman appeared in 80 games for the Yankees last season, filling in at second base, shortstop third base. The ex-Marine pilot batted .257.

The Cincinnati Redlegs continued to line up their players at a fast pace when catcher Smoky Burgess became the 23rd member of the team to sign for the forthcoming season.

Three pitchers came to terms with the Kansas City Athletics, including Dave Newkirk, a promising rookie who won 12 games and lost seven with Shreveport in the Texas League last year. The other A's signers were Ed Mónahan, another rookie, and relief hurler Jack McMahan.

Johnny and Eddie O'Brien, the only identical twins in baseball, returned their signed contracts to the Pittsburgh Pirates. Johnny, displaced at second base by Bill Mazeroski last season, appeared in eight games as a pitcher and had a 1-0 record. Eddie also tried pitching last season, turning in two scoreless innings against the Cardinals.

Myers New Head Football Coach At Iowa State

LOS ANGELES (UP) — Jim Myers, new head football coach for Iowa State College, said today he hopes to mould the defeat-ridden Cyclones into one of the powerhouses in the Big Seven Conference.

The determined 35-year-old mentor, who was assistant to UCLA Head Coach Red Sanders last season, vowed to initiate "a strong building program" at Iowa State to overcome its losing allergy.

"I feel confident that I can build the team into one of the top squads in the Big Seven with hard work and enthusiasm," Myers said. "But, of course, it can't be done overnight It will take at least a couple of seasons to get the ball rolling."

Myers is the 21st coach at Iowa State. Only one of them ever had a winning record with the Cyclones.

Myers was signed in a reported $14,000 a year contract to succeed Vince De Francesca, who resigned sons at Iowa State.

Waynesburg to Help Dick Kadis

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (UP)—Waynesburg sports fans have started a fund to match that raised by Geneva College students to help defray the medical expenses of Dick Kadis, injured Geneva football player.

Geneva students have raised $1,000 which Waynesburg sports fans will attempt to match. Kadis' father has spent some $10,000 in medical expenses for treatment of his son.

Kadis has been unconscious since last Sept. 29, when he was injured in a football game against Waynesburg.

New Buick for '57 Is a Whiz at Everything Any Car Should Do

If you'll drop in at the Mon Valley Motors, Inc., 252 East Donner avenue in Monessen, Buick sales and service, and look over those new '57 models you'll find they are a whiz of a car.

It turns out that the 1957 Buick is far more than just a brand-new automobile.

It turns out that this new '57 Buick is winning the raves with a new kind of going and a new kind of stopping—a new kind of handling and a new kind of road sureness—a new kind of safety and a new kind of comfort.

We'll be specific, when you press the pedal of a new '57 Buick, the response is literally instant.

Because an ingenious new ball-a new 364-cubic-inch V8 engine is delivered in the split of a second through a new full-range Variable Pitch Dynaflow that's immediate in it's oil-smooth action.

When you brake to a stop, you and the car stay on a level plane.

Because an indigious new ball-joint suspension in every '57 Buick virtually ends the down-in-front dip that cars have on sudden stops.

When you take a turn or swing into an "S" curve, you still hug the road like a streamliner on rails.

Because under you is a massive wide-frame new chassis that "nests" the whole car inches closer to the road with the lowest center of gravity in Buick history—yet with no change in road clearance.

And when you sit in the deep comfort of those soft wide seats, you can drive with the pleasant ease of a clear conscience, without watching the speedometer.

There are many other new things that make this gorgeous Buick a car of limitless wonders,—from the bigger and more rakish windsheild that makes seeing more relieving, to the extra roominess with the sports-car lowness. that's so surprising in this beauty

But there's nothing like a first-hand sampling to know how modern the newest thing on wheels really is. Come in today for your meeting with the newest Buick yet.

Now that long Winter evenings are here to stay in Monessen and the Valley for some months to come, more people will get a thrill out of television programs than perhaps any season of the year.

O'Brien's Satin Finish Can Make Home Attractive

Naturally it's not the season of the year to do outside painting until Spring and warmer weather rolls around again in the Valley, but a lot can be done to enhance the beauty of your home's interior with inside finishes.

Go to the Forester Plumbing and Heating store, 910 Knox avenue in Monessen, right now and inquire into the merits for example of O'Brien's Satin finish for walls and woodwork.

How is the woodwork in your home? Beginning to look a little spotty, drab and dreary? Then you'd be surprised what a little effort on your part, a can or two of O'Brien's Satin Finish, will do to make your home gay and beautiful inside again!

With long Winter evenings ahead for a couple of months you have a good chance to spend that spare time indoors in a profitable manner. And this finish is so easy to apply that any amatuer can do a good job and save the cost of hiring a painter.

Forester's also has other paints and plan to use their White's prepared paint for outside work when warm weather comes again. It is especially adapted for use in the Valley since it is an acid-resistant paint.

Forester's also has plumbing and heating supplies, housewares and many items you need daily in your home to make domestic life run smoothly.

Drop in this popular store at 910 Knox avenue and shop around — you are welcome at all times.

2 Card of Thanks

In loving memory of our dear wife, mother and grandmother, Mary C. Kitto, who passed away three years ago tomorrow, January 20, 1954.
She is gone but not forgotten
And as dawns another year
In our lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of her are always near.
Days of sadness will come o'er us,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within the heart concealed.
Sadly missed by the Family.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Charles Wells, who passed away three years ago tomorrow, January 20, 1954.
There is a sad but sweet remembrance,

There is a token of affection, son
And a heartache still for you.
Sadly missed by Mother, Father, Brother and Sisters

In loving memory of our dear father, Frank Tyger, who died 18 years ago tomorrow, January 20, 1939.
Today is a day of remembrance
And many sad regrets;
A day we shall always remember
When the rest of the world forgets.
We sit here in the evening
Often when we are alone,
Wishing, hoping and longing
That you would only come home.
A loving father, so good and kind,
No friend on earth like him we'll find.
For each of us he did his best,
May God grant him eternal rest.
His thoughts were all so full of us,
He never could forget,
And so we think that where he is.
He must be watching us yet.

In loving memory of "Chuck".

Squawk Is Talk

HOLLYWOOD (UP)— A parrot named Tony won a heated dispute and $80 a day additional salary for his owner concerning his status as an actor. Tony has a role in Kim Novak's new film "Jeanne Eagles," and the script demands that he squawk at the actress. The question was whether he was to be paid as a silent actor or an actor with lines.

Judge Ruling Alabama Could Expell Negro

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UP)—U.S. District Judge Hobart Grooms ruled Thursday the University of Alabama was within its rights in expelling its first and only Negro student, Mrs. Autherine Lucy Foster.

Grooms said the university was not in contempt of court when it expelled Mrs. Foster, whose appearance on the Tuscaloosa campus caused three days of race riots, for making charges against the university she was unable to prove.

The school's board of trustees ejected the Negro woman last February because she had charged the trustees and other university officials had conspired with rioters to force her from the campus. The charges were later dropped in court.

Mrs. Foster, now married to a Negro minister and living in Texas, was admitted to the university on a court order issued by Grooms. She was suspended several days later because of the race riots. At a court hearing grooms ordered her immediate reinstatement, but the trustees expelled her hours later because of the conspiracy charge.

Your Health—

Got Cold? Treat Nose Gently

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Got a cold? Then leave your nose alone.

Oh, I know it bothers you. It probably itches and is either stuffed up or running like a fountain. Well, wipe it occasionally, but otherwise leave it alone.

If you feel that you just must do something, it's better to sniff than to blow. Simply sniff the mucus to the back of your throat and then spit it out.

Most doctors agree that the less you do with your nose, when you have a cold, the better off you will be

A Virginia physician recently reported to medical colleagues that he believes a person cannot blow his nose even once during a cold, without causing important damage.

And a British physician, Dr. Paul Osmun, points out:

"Recent investigations indicate that a blast of outgoing air and debris has a greater chance of contaminating a sinus than inspired contaminants."

In short, he agrees that it is better to sniff than to blow.

Now, no matter what I say, or how many doctors agree with me, you aren't going to break a lifelong habit of blowing to clear your nose. I know that. It takes a long time to break a habit.

So let me caution you at least to blow gently. If you don't, you may force infected material from your nose into your ears or sinuses. Then you may be in for some real trouble.

When holding a handkerchief to your nose, be careful not to press both nostrils closed at the same time.

That same Virginia physician has another bit of advice on taking care of a cold. He advises a cold victim to sleep on his side, alternating from one side to the other.

This, he concedes, may sometimes appear to interfere with sleep. But, he insists, in such a case "sleep" is of secondary importance "

Question and Answer

S. N.: What causes a person to see tiny white spots before the eyes? My blood pressure and kidneys are all right.

Answer: The appearance of spots before the eyes may be due to constipation, to a defect in the vision, to high blood pressure or migraine. Consult a doctor.

About 103 miles long, the Suez canal connects the Mediterranean sea with the Red sea. It was begun in April, 1859 and opened on Nov. 17, 1869.
